

RAWLINGS
PROFESSIONAL
"Deep-Well" Gloves

Red Rolfe

No. RR EACH $12.00

A de luxe glove that leads the field in playability, feel, and durability. Incorporates new exclusive features originated by Rawlings: Features that are the talk of the baseball field today. Extra large model with our new (patent applied for) adjustable "Deep Well Pocket" and adjustable floating heel. These two features are new and different; must be seen and tried to be appreciated. Also incorporates our set-in streamlined thumb and pocket forming fingers. Finest grade pliable Tan color leather, especially selected for its adaptability to this model. Lined throughout with genuine horsehide. Top grade asbestos felt pad, cut-out palm. Deep crotch hand-sewed; reinforces this vital point. Greased pocket. Closed heel. Roll leather bound edges. Broad wrist strap. A special feature of the RR is the new leather wrapped trap feature; a positive ball trap. Hand oil treated.

1940's Red Rolfe Rawlings RR Rolled Laced Web Glove

Need I say more!.....$795

No. G24. This glove is very similar to G24L, except it is a little heavier padded, and does not have a lacing in heel; used continually by Adams, Cutshaw, Janvrin, Menosky, Mogridge, Nehf, Pennock, Elmer Smith. For those wanting a Glove with a high heel and light palm this should fill the bill. Price..... 5.00

No. G24

1920's D&M White 1" Web

This glove is super soft inside and out. Along with the pristine D&M tag and extremely clean and pure white backside, the interior feels soft and smooth on the hand. It has no ink, rips or tears. Can't tell who endorsed it but it is most likely the G24 laceless heel model. Just a fantastic glove in every way.....$650

1940's Ripon 42 Ambidextrous Glove

This is a very solid example of a rare and coveted mid-century model produced by Ripon Knitting Works, WI. You can still read the cool Ripon logo and other stampings. Broken shoe laces have been replaced with vintage leather laces. The original wrist strap has been professionally reinforced on the back.....$1,350

1920's Victor, Wright & Ditson Glove & Basemitt

Two nice VW&D with nice linings and labels. 1b has some stamping visible, palm cloth label, and smooth lining. 1" web is 9 1/4" tall with leather piping, nice cloth label, and nice linin (has a couple small finger crotch separations).
.....$590

PROFESSIONAL BALL HAWK "3"

A2170 Design and construction similar to A2160. Made of high grade, tan color cowhide in a medium size. Streamlined, Kurv Form fingers. Hand formed jute felt pad. Fully oiled and grease set pocket. Roll leather binding. Rawhide lacing at wrist. Adjustable leather wrist strap.

A2170 (636) Regular Each $11.00

1950 Wilson A2170 Professional Ball Hawk 3 Two Finger Glove

This two-finger model is in fantastic condition. It features supple leather inside and out. The inner lining feels perfect. It has rolled leather piping, a nice Wilson incised button and lots of silver remaining on the front and back. This triple tunnel laced web glove has been properly relaced up top.....$135

1920's Johnny Mostil Dubow 4240 Glove

As the house brand for Montgomery Wards, Marathon gloves often get little respect. However, there are definitely bright lights of quality in Marathon's lineup - including this seldom-seen model 4240, endorsed by Johnny Mostil. This glove's quality rivals (and exceeds) the similar top-line models of the same era by Reach, Spalding, and Dubow. This example is fantastic - the horsehide lining feels wonderful, and the thick "thumping" leather feels very solid on the hand. It features reinforced welting at crotch of the fingers, and yet another cool 2-grommet tabbed web. There are a few dry/surface leather cracking spots in the leather on the fingers, but overall just a terrific glove.....$175

1920's Billy Wambsganss Worth RWC Glove

In the world of glove collecting, there are certain gloves that are simply “iconic”, not only for their quality but also for their historical importance. Offered here is one such glove.

Billy Wambsganss was a standout second baseman who played for a few teams from 1914-1926. In the 1920 World Series, he executed the one and ONLY unassisted Triple Play in World Series History.

A little over 10 years ago, Heritage Auctions sold a glove that was documented as game-used by Wamby, in that very same unassisted World Series triple play. It sold for over $29,000. This glove is similar to that one in a number of ways, including double thick strap web and the King Patent wrist opening, and is about as close as you will come to owning a Wamby gamer. Or for that matter, for owning even a Wamby-endorsed glove. They practically do not exist, and if so, they are rarely, if ever, for sale on the open market. Chances are very high you’ve never seen one. Until now.

This example is a Worth splitfinger glove, model RWC (or maybe RW6), and it features some of the “iconic” features I mentioned: 1”-2” double-thick web; leather reinforced between the fingers, all-leather binding, and of course, the famed, uber-rare (and super cool) “King patent” laced wrist opening, and a nice Worth logo on the wrist strap button. All of these features make the glove rare in its own right, but the Billy Wambsganss endorsement launches it into stratosphere of collectability.

This glove is in original condition. It still could be cleaned up quite a bit. The endorsement is faint but it’s definitely there.

For the record: Despite the similarities between this glove and the auctioned gamer, I see no way to determine whether or not this glove was actually game-used by Wamby. It’s too bad that the photo of Billy W from the Library of Congress isn’t just a little sharper. That glove he’s holding sure looks like this one.

And even though this was obviously a very well-loved glove – think about what else it represents, and how rare it is, and ask yourself, “When/where will I find another one?”

It deserves a place in your collection!.....$1,850

1930's Jimmy Dykes Spalding 3 Finger Glove

Every collection needs to have a Lutzke-style 3-finger glove, aka the "Bee Sting" glove, and here is a good starter example for yours, and a rare Jimmy Dykes endorsement at that. Rough condition, including rough lining, and a large tear in the front/pocket leather. Not a great glove for catch, but definitely eye-catching for display, instantly recognizable to veteran glove collectors.....$135

1910's Spalding White 1" Web Glove

This is a beauty. It's a 1910's Spalding adult-sized white 1" web with nice 1908 patent date stampings in the heel. It is extremely soft inside and out. The lining is calfskin and couldn't be any softer. It has a super clean brass button as well as a Spalding tag but it's a bit muted or faded. It has nearly perfect leather piping. There are no real flaws on this glove with the exception of a mark or staining on the back of the thumb. It has never been cleaned and could probably whiten up even more. Just a fantastic feeling glove and very white early Spalding glove that you want to put on your hand.....$700

1920's Winchester Basemitt

Keeper quality Winchester basemitt with great large label and smooth lining.....$550

1920's Dutch Ruether Goldsmith 1 Inch Web Glove

This glove fits on so many lists. Dutch Ruether was a member of the 1919 Cincinnati Reds (against the Black Sox), he was on the '27 Yankees and he was a Brooklyn Dodger. It's also an endorsed 1 inch web in outstanding condition. It's soft and supple both inside and out. "Dutch" is light but there and Ruether is pretty bold. It features a fantastic blue & gold Goldsmith tag as well as a Goldsmith incised button. It has nearly perfect leather piping. The only flaw on this one is the name scratched onto the back. Just a fantastic feeling glove and the only one cataloged in the hobby over the last 25 years.....$700

1900's Crescent Pad Laced Palm Catchers Mitt

Early 1900's two tone black/russet leather catchers mitt. Adult size, 10"H X 10 1/2"W. Rare lace-up palm and grommet web. Some restoration work to tears to the leather on the face. Otherwise the mitt is in excellent shape with a fully formed crescent heel pad. All leather piping. Quick release buckle. Nice on hand feel.....$475

Lot of 3 1950's Centerfielder Gloves (Mickey Mantle, Duke Snider & Willie Mays)

Who was the best center fielder of the 50s/60s? Some would argue for their favorite of the time, but you don't have to, Mantle, Mays Snider USA top quality models, yo. Real nice Mantle MM Personal with strong endorsement, nice lining and some silver (little scratching on back side of pinkie and a little scratchiness in lining thumb), Mays GC12 Macregor GBlack Crown Personal solid inside and out, and Rawlings DS Snider also real solid but fingers and web relaced. Will consider offers on each if group doesn't sell.....$675

1910's Wright & Ditson Basemitt

Early Wright Ditson sewn web basemitt. Good condition measures 9x9. Fantastic antique look with the W&D large label on the thumb.....$275

1950's Jackie Robinson JC Higgins 1617 Glove

USA made 50s JC Higgins Jackie Robinson with large endorsement. Very rare USA Robinson (two known?). Glove has been relaced, ink on wrist, and is missing some piping but it's solid and American history!.....$1,100.

1940's Elmer Riddle Goldsmith DW Special Services U.S. Army Glove

Outstanding example of the archetypical wartime glove - the Goldsmith, Elmer Riddle. This virtually unused beauty shows bright silver stamping throughout, even on the horsehide lining, which is of course, like butter. And the cool, smooth leather smells wonderful. Rare full "SPECIAL SERVICES U.S. ARMY" stamp on wrist strap If you're ready for your final upgrade of a wartime glove, the wait is over.$275

1940's Elmer Riddle Goldsmith DW U.S.N. Glove

Here is a yet another beautiful wartime Elmer Riddle glove, and this one is for you Seamen out there - issued via the U.S.Navy, as witnessed by the U.S.N. stamp on the wrist strap. Again, hardly any use to this one, with the cool, smooth leather that makes you not want to take this glove off. The leather smells terrific and the silver stamping is still really great. Pair this up with the Super Rare "U.S.N. stamped Ford Frick National League baseball, for the greatest navy baseball display ever!.....$225

1940's Elmer Riddle Goldsmith UN U.S. Navy Glove

Here is a very nice example of the venerable wartime favorite Goldsmith Elmer Riddle. This one has gorgeous soft leather, a butter-soft horsehide interior, and is ready for catch! While there is ink on the back of the thumb ("J") and pinky ("Reh."), the ink is true to the time period and use - I believe these are abbreviations for military units. This is actually the glove that came with the U.S.N. stamped NL Ford Frick baseball. If you buy that as well, you'll have a matched set.....$125

1940's Spalding Ford Frick Official National League U.S.N. Baseball

Impossible to find, almost 1-of-1 unused Official National League Ford Frick baseball, stamped U.S.N.! I've seen plenty of gloves, etc. but never a GI ball, and certainly not in this condition. The perfect accompaniment to a beauty U.S.N. glove, for that perfect Navy wartime baseball display. If you want it, here it is come and get it... but you better hurry cuz it may not last.....$150

1920's Victor, Wright & Ditson Basemitt

This is an early Victor Wright Ditson baseman mitt. Measures 10 1/4 x 9 1/2. Smooth soft leather that feels great on hand. The bucklestraps are in nice condition and has the VWD cloth label at base of the palm.....$275 base of the palm. $275

1940's Bill Doak Rawlings H Glove 2

The Rawlings Bill Doak glove is a CLASSIC, and a must-have for every collection. There are early-, mid-, and late-era designs for Doaks, and a few model #'s, The Model H is the largest, best quality, and this one is a superb example. Solid, smooth, thick still-orangey leather all around, outstanding lining, great leather piping, and the key is the 2 patches on the wrist strap; serious collectors look for Doaks with the white "BILL DOAK GLOVE" 2nd patch, and they don't get much better than on this one. Plus, this Model Hs, has the Rawlings "bars" patch. This one appears to have some relacing in the web.... Great Doak!.....$175

1900's Goldsmith Full Web With Celluloid Button

1900's Goldsmith full web glove with mint celluloid button and patch. Soft, supple leather with a flannel like full inner lining. The glove has no rips or tears, feels great on the hand. Roomy adult size at 9 1/2"H X 8 1/2"W.....$275

1920's Dazzy Vance Edward K. Tryon DV Glove in Box

This is one of the few Dazzy Vance gloves in the box. The exterior leather is super supple and is the best feature of this glove. The stampings are bold and it features both the Edward K. Tryon and Dazzy Vance tags. All the laces are original. The inner lining has flaws up inside but not very visible on display except for the index finger pad area. It has rolled leather piping. The box isn't perfect either as the left side panel is missing and shows some pretty good wear. It's a very rare numbers matching set.....$795

1930's Dazzy Vance Vim Sports Radio F400 Super Special Glove in Box

This is one of the other rare Dazzy Vance gloves in the box. The exterior leather is super supple but the inner lining has flaws up in the fingers. It features the cool lace up wrist strap. There is a thumb seam separation on the back under the web so it needs to be restitched. There is another Dazzy Vance Vim Super Special in the hobby in very nice condition so this can be upgraded at some point. The glove has never been cleaned and could stand a good cleaning. The box looks fine from the front but the bottom half is a bit rough. It has a rip on the right side of the box as visible in the last pic and shows some general wear all over. The box has May 13th, 1939 written on the front.....$550

1920's Reach Basemitt

Very nice looking Reach oven mitt 1B glove from the 20s. Pretty white/olive buckskin outer leather, intact buckle/strap, nice smooth lining, and a STUNNING A.J. Reach cloth patch. Small-ish glove, might be youth, but I can easily get my hand in it. Either way, just a great glove to round out your early fielder's gloves with a 1B mitt!.....$125

1900's D&M Laced Heel Catchers Mitt

Super rare and early D&M buckle back catchers mitt features the patented grommet web, intact belted heel lacing, riveted hard fiber perimeter banding and oval buckle. Nice cloth patch, beautiful leather condition inside and out. Adult sized at 10"W X 10"H. A well loved mitt with various vintage seam stitching repairs that don't detract from this great baseball relic.....$475

1920's/30's Spalding Grommet Web Glove

Absolute top-line glove from the 1930, with the super-cool 3-eyelet tabs for the web. Leather binding, Spalding patch & button, and the same web as the legendary Reach AI Reach glove. I only wish I could make out the model number - can ALMOST be seen. Nice feel on the hand, nice pocket shape... a great glove from a great era!.....$150

1940's Bob Elliott Wilson A2140 Glove

Stunning hardly-used, high-quality Wilson A2140 Bob Elliott glove. The cool, smooth soft lining feels great when you slide it on your hand. Take this to the ball game - oh the comments you'll get! (I've done it - fun!) The stampings are awesome, with lots of silver remaining, and the lovely brass button and early black Wilson patch are mint. Condition is usually "king" nowadays, and this one is a rare beauty in that regard - even the stitching on the back is still white.....$125

1968-69 MacGregor KC1 Kangaroo Glove

New, mint with box 1968-69 MacGregor KC1 kangaroo outfield baseball glove. It is time to part with my beloved KC1. I used one as a teenager. These were not openly sold to the public. You had to “know” about them and order from a professional sport equipment supplier. 12.50" This is for a left-handed thrower, but who would play with this anyway? Willie Mays used this model glove to make his famous Candlestick Park chain link fence catch over Bobby Bonds. I am not aware of another new one in existence, along with the original box! It is a “Unicorn.” This will only gain in value.....$2,500

1940's Martin Marion Rawlings MM Glove

1940's near mint Rawlings Martin Marion model MM. Rare black leather, stamped military issue. Large supple glove, all original with great on hand feel.....$225

1900s Victor Sporting Goods Full Web

This early white full web glove measures 8.5" from left to right and 9.5" from top to bottom. The lining is in nice condition and is feels great on the hand. It makes me want to go out and have a catch or sit on the couch with it on during a game. There is some minor lining separation up inside the thumb stall. White full webs are pretty tough to come by from this manufacturer.....$375

1960's Sam Esposito Spalding 1053 Personal Model Glove

When's the last time you saw a Spalding 1053 Sammy Esposito Personal Model glove? Probably never - they are more rare than hen's teeth, I only know of 4 examples anywhere. TOP-line Spalding glove from the glory days of baseball and glove designs. Very solid leather, cool bowl-shape on the hand, and nice lining, exterior leather generally good, with some dry spots. All that said... try to find another one; if you still need one, here you go!.....$150

1920's Biddle Catchers Mitt

Rare 1920's Biddle Sporting Goods buckle web catchers mitt. Overall good condition with some wear to the finger stalls on the back. The cloth patch is frayed at the edges but still completely readable. 10 1/2" H X 10"W. A solid mitt with nice on hand feel.....$185

1930's Heinie Manush 4220 Marathon Glove

This is a high quality 1930's Heinie Manush 4220 glove. Manush is on the pre-war HOF list. This one has nice stampings and extremely supple leather. Feels nice on the hand with no holes, ink, rips or tears. This one is constructed almost identical in quality to the Johnny Mostil Marathon model.....$150

1940's Bill Nicholson Dubow Glove

Gorgeous, hardly-used, high-quality Dubow Bill "Swish" Nicholson glove. The lining feels like butter, and when you slip this glove on, you won't want to take it off. This is another one to take this to the ball game - the comments you get will be great. The stamping readable, but faint and with no factory ink in the stamping - typical Dubow glove. One of the looped-lace webs has been relaced. Condition is outstanding.....$145

1940's Ted Williams Stall & Dean 8084 Glove

1940's Stall & Dean Ted Williams model 8084 glove. Unique patented "curve form" back panel. A really large glove, supple, all original and a great on hand feel. Excellent factory markings front and back.....$225

1920's Ken Williams Marathon 4232 Glove

Very nice example of a neat little glove, the Marathon 4232 Ken Williams. Smooth solid leather, nice lining, and has the very cool 2-eyelet tabs for webbing. I'd keep this one, but I have another one - one of my very first gloves ever, from very long ago. Still in my collection - indicates how cool these gloves are. you can fold these in half (lengthwise), put 'er in your pocket, and take it to the ball game - and what great comments you WILL get! Gotta get you a Kenny Williams.....$125

Group of Four Vintage Catchers Mitts

A group of four vintage catchers mitt. Clockwise from the top: an early 1900's crescent pad mitt with grommet web & early belt style heel lacing. Torn wrist strap, tears in the pocket with vintage repair attempts. Otherwise the leather is in good shape inside and out. (2) A 1920's Spalding mitt with 10/0 and "World Series Model" stamped on the face. Nice cloth patch. The fastback style mitt is in decent shape with general wear and tear. (3) A 1920's Reach mitt with 12-A "Professional" and "Double Face" Indian logo stamped on the front. The leather is in decent shape with a two inch tear at the wrist opening and tip of leather strap gone. (4) A 1915 Wright & Ditson mitt with a unique fastback style and the classic tennis player cloth patch. The leather is stiff with broken/missing lacing. All the mitts were large, high quality and top of the line in their day.....$250

1939 Joe Gordon Folsom G595 Glove

This is a high-quality near perfect Joe Gordon G595 glove. It's just about mint except for the owner's name and 1939 in ink on the back. This one is all original and has nice stampings, just about all the silver remaining and extremely supple leather inside and out. It's stamped "Specially Designed Joe Gordon Model". I was attracted to the original white laces in the heel and web. Feels perfect on the hand with no holes, rips or tears. I kept the box it came in as I love Joe Gordons in the box.....$150

1920's Raywill 238 Grommet Web Glove

This glove has very soft and supple leather with nice on hand feel. It has the Raywill button and cloth label.....$250

1920's Goldsmith 67 Glove

A 1920's Goldsmith model 67 glove in super condition inside and out. Soft supple leather, great factory markings and 1923 patent stamp on the thumb for the tunnel loop webbing. A large, high quality, adult-sized glove with all leather piping.....$185

1940's Joe DiMaggio Spalding 133 & Ted Williams Wilson A2112 Gloves

There was a once rumored completed deal that had Boston trading Ted Williams to New York for Joe DiMaggio (supposedly rescinded by one team the next day). It made some sense with both players going to the fields with the shorter porches to their strength, short left field that is the Green Monster for the righty DiMaggio and the lefty Williams feasting on the short porch of Yankee stadium. That would have been interesting! Players were sort of opposites, as are these two nice splitfingers with strong endorsements. Nice linings, no ink.....$375

1950's Stan Musial Rawlings PM Front

During the 1950s, glove manufacturers experimented with all sorts of glove designs, including using FEWER fingers in their gloves - even the top-line ones. Such is the case with the Rawlings PM PlayMaker Supreme, Stan Musial Personal Model - a 3 finger glove that actually feels great when you put it on your hand. This example is in terrific shape - very little use, with the exterior leather like new, lining great and smooth, and readable stampings in the pocket. The fingertip lacing has been redone, and there is a broken lace at the base of the web, but the piping is in good shape, and with a perfect Rawlings patch on the back. There is name/address written on the back of the pinky, BUT when you slide your hand into this one, it's easy to forget about that. If you don't have a top-line 3-finger glove, here's the ticket!.....$145

1950's Lefty Gomez Wilson 2034 Glove

The Wilson A2034 Lefty Gomez is a CLASSIC 1950's era glove, with all the features of the day, just before the pivotal 1958 A2000 that changed glove design forever. As such, Gomez gloves are typically very common; this example is far from typical. Besides being NrMt and barely used, it sports pumpkin orange leather, silver stampings, a perfect lining, and the oh-so-good-beautiful Red/White/Blue "Wilson" patch on the wrist strap - Wilson only did this for a year or two - too bad! When you're ready to pull the trigger on the last Lefty Gomez you'll ever need in your collection - here tis - just need a box!.....$350

1960's Boog Powell Rawlings TN10 Heart of the Hide Basemitt

1960's Rawlings Boog Powell HOH TN10 basemitt in near mint condition. A really large mitt with supple leather featuring the "Big T Trapper" web and "Magic Action" outseam back. Won't find a nicer example.....$149

1950's Rocky Colavito Spalding 1101 Personal Model Glove

Nr-Mt and same as the Herb Score HSP but it has different tanning and stamping.....$750

1950's Herb Score Rawlings HSP Glove

Nice looking solid HSP for your collection, or for catch. Nice display glove, and with enough "experience" that you won't be afraid to take it out for a catch. Very nice stamping, good smooth lining, good binding, loops intact, looks to be original laces as well. Some checking on the wrist strap & pinky, but overall a nice example.....$150

©151 JIMMIE FOXX. Improved and perfected one-piece palm, . welted insert thumb model, gusset reinforced deep pocket. Made of prime quality genuine horsehide throughout, especially selected for both weight and pliability. Extra large. Side lace feature. Hand formed, custom built and shaped ready-broke asbestos felt pad, rolled leather bound crotch. Panel back, wool shearling padded adjustable wrist strap, ¾ laced, neatsfoot oil treated. Leather lace adjustment in back for holding little finger.
Each, $11.35.

1939 Jimmie Foxx Spalding 151 Professional Model Basemitt

This was at the top of the Spalding line in 1939. It is in outstanding condition and only made that one year. The inner lining is smooth and feels great on the hand. It features a nice Spalding tag. It has no ink, rips or tears. The buckle strap has been professionally and perfectly replaced. If you collect only high quality or top of the line gloves and mitts then this one is for you.....$285

1970's Rawlings XPG3-H Heart of the Hide Glove

A terrific example of a ca. 1977 Rawlings Pro level HOH glove that is broken in to perfection, yet standing the test of time, double-relaced and ready for catch/play in the next phase of its life. Dark, soft, smooth leather that will make you want to keep this one on your hand, strong leather yet super flexible. Rare factory H-web that is the very same model glove that HOFer Brooks Robinson used for years at the "hot corner" in Baltimore. Previous owner's name is engraved along the pinky (like a player endorsement), but it's unobtrusive. Might likely become your new favorite "catch" glove.....$175

Lot of Three 1930's/40's Stall & Dean Splitfinger Gloves

Three cool looking Stall & Dean splitfingers, two with labels. One has some ink on wrist, one a dirty label, and one with some checking in the lining but otherwise pretty solid gloves.....$230

1940's Denkert 400 U.S. Oct.-45 Glove

Here is a very nice Denkert Model 400 that was a U.S. military issue, dated OCT-45 - very shortly after World War II in the Pacific. Lovely bright orange leather, gleaming silver stampings, and an incredible lining when you put it on your hand. Small ink on the wriststrap, but no matter - take this one to the ball game, and watch the comments roll in. VERY nostalgic, cool military issue glove.....$125

1940's Joe DiMaggio Spalding Marvel 233 Glove

1940's Spalding Marvel Joe DiMaggio model 233 glove. Large size, soft tan leather with black piping. This is a rare "Selflex" model with segmented finger stalls. The glove has seen little use and all the factory markings are strong.
.....$225

1960's Roger Maris Spalding 42-211 Personal Model Glove

Seldom-seen version of the numerous Whitey Ford USA Personal models, and this one is a real beauty. Fastback glove with smooth, strong palimino leather, great stampings, and a very cool single-post web (unusual for a pitcher). Feels terrific on the hand, of course, and it's in original condition - no cleaning/conditioning was required. HOFer.....$295

1940's Morris Arnovich George A. Reach WOW Glove

A 1930-40's Geo. Reach Morris Arnovich model WOW glove in close to near mint condition. It's a large, high quality glove. A beauty inside and out. Unimprovavble factory markings, nice reddish-brown leather contrasting with the yellow dyed leather wrist strap. Pretty cool!.....$179

1930's Al Simmons Denkert G105 Glove

Very nice early Denkert Al Simmons glove with smooth soft exterior horsehide leather, full smooth leather lining and nice intact piping all around. Dual-loop web that just screams 1920s/1930s. Small-ish in size, but adult hand easily fits. Great little early glove that would clean up even nicer. Simmons played for a plethora of teams from the '20s-'40s, most notably A's and White Sox, and was inducted into the HOF in 1953.....$95

1950's Bob Feller JC Higgins 1638 Glove

1950's J.C.Higgins Bob Feller model 1638 glove. All leather, high quality and near mint condition. Tough to find a nicer example.....$129

1940's Ted Williams Hutch 52 Glove

Mint except for a little shelf wear.....$495

TruSport G40 Glove

Hardly used with super soft leather inside and out. Butter soft on hand feel. Has a unique diamond web. Light ink on pinky.....$185

1950's Johnny Groth Rawlings JG Glove

A 1950's Rawlings Johnny Groth model JG "Custom Crafted" glove in nice shape. Rare black/gold cloth patch, clear factory markings. A large glove with supple leather inside and out. No tears. A top glove in its day.....$79

Will sell both the JG and GC1 models for $140.

1930's Augie Galan Montgomery Wards 4224 Glove

1930's Wards Augie Galan model 4224 glove. Soft, supple reddish brown leather with contrasting tan lacing and black leather piping. Great condition inside and out. Tunnel web with fixed web below. Great on hand feel.....$119

1940's Marvin Owens D&M Glove

Draper Maynard buckle back endorsed by Marvin Owens. Good condition glove with soft leather and nice D&M large Cloth label. Very small hole at base of pinky and ring finger..... $125

1940's Cy Young Hutch Glove

Hutch Cy Young with smooth lining and strong endorsement.....$475

1980's Wilson A2000 1650 J. Kanter Pro Stock Glove

Wilson was very clear when they made gloves for the pros: there's a 3- or 4-digit style number stamped on the gloves, and in some cases, the only time when a player's name is stamped on the top-line A2000 - if it was issued to him. This is a like-new USA Wilson A2000 is stamped 1636 - an obvious infield design with the classic small solid IF web, and this one has the closed back. The glove is nearly new, only partially broken in, and feels wonderful. "J. KANTER" is written in very faded marker along the thumb and pinky, and doing some research, this probably was issued to John Kanter, a minor-leaguer who played in the Phillies and A's organizations in the early 1980s (including the Madison Muskies!). An absolutely great glove - NO disappointments.....$225

1950's Red Schoendienst MacGregor GC1 Glove

A MacGregor Red Schoendienst "SpiderWeb" model GC1 glove. A reverse button model with rare wrist reinforcing lacing. Nice patch and factory markings. Leather is in decent shape.....$79

Will sell both the GC1 and JG models for $140.

1940's Honus Wagner Honus Wagner Sporting Goods Glove

Honus Wagner endorsed Honus Wagner brand. Tall 10" very soft well-made splitfinger with deep stamping and smooth lining.....$575

2000's Daniel Cabrera Nokona AMG-1250 Game-Used Glove

Very rare Nokona MLB gamer glove, embroidered for Daniel Cabrera, who was a pitcher for the Orioles, Nationals, and D'Backs in the 2000s. This is a Kangaroo hide glove, Made in USA, Trap-Eze design, black as coal, smooth as butter, soft as a baby's behind. Perfectly broken in, but no heavy wear from use. It sports Cabrera's name in red cursive, and his country's flag from the Dominican Republic. A very rare, very cool game glove. When's the last time you saw one of these?.....$450

1950's Bruce Edwards Rawlings BE Catchers Mitt

Rare, early 1950's Rawlings Bruce Edwards model BE "Target" catchers mitt in great condition. Nice two-tone tan back and cordovan front. The "Target" logo with catcher stamp are great as are the other factory markings. 10"H X 10 1/2"W measuring along the pocket. Soft, supple leather throughout. One of Rawlings best mitts back in the day.....$119

Rawlings Pro 1000 Heart of The Hide Glove

Rare early infielders model in EX/EX+ condition; still very useable and all original. U.S.A.....$450

Kansas City Royals Infield Gloves

Frank White and Buddy Biancalana game-used gloves. What a pair! Game-used and in nice condition Rawlings XPGS gloves. C'mon: Frank White! - how many? EIGHT gold gloves! Both nicely signed as well. $2,500. What? Too much? Bulldinky!! Just a crummier Frank White sold at auction for more than this.

D&M Trophy

Killer D&M cup that will enhance any glove display. Sits and displays wonderfully but has some scratches and bottom is a little misshapen. Size is approximately 9" x 9" and engraved "D&M Presented By W. I. Lucas Sporting Goods Co."$2,100

Baseball Trophy

Great old time looking "hood ornament" baseball hitter trophy stands 11 1/2" by 7" on plastic base with general wear throughout. Spice up those displays!.....$235