

1927-29 Ken-Wel 632 Lou Gehrig endorsed zipper-back basemitt. Of the few, half dozen or so, examples that have been found, this is the only Gehrig zipper-back dating to the 1920's. The model first appeared in Ken-Wel's 1927 catalog, a monumental year for Gehrig and the Yankees. It sports the company's older "Gloversville, NY" patch compared to the "Utica, NY" patches of its brethren. The company moved locations in 1930, easily marking the decade change based on manufacturing location. Furthermore, the pattern of the earlier 1920's models were different than the flatter, pancake examples produced in the 1930's. Other variations making this early example singularly unique include black rolled leather piping, centering of the signature stampings and a loop finger adjustment.

The mitt is completely original with supple leather and clear stampings. Simply put, not only the best Gehrig, but perhaps the best endorsed glove in the hobby. Take away the endorsement, its distinctive features are a work of art that easily ranks the piece as one of the most desired artifacts of vintage baseball equipment to have survived.

Open to Offers

Baseball Glove Collector.com

The Babe endorsed Draper Maynard gloves, specifically the G41, from 1921 to 1927. He didn't only endorse them, he actually used white G41's during the most productive years of his career. The accompanying photo shows Babe with his trusted white "Lucky Dog" at his side. While the Ken-Wel Lou Gehrig zipper-back may be the most desired glove in the hobby, this G41 model is a close second on the want lists of numerous collectors. Though the signature stamping on this example is very faint and only legible at certain angles, the model number is completely legible confirming it's the real deal. Supple leather throughout and a near perfect lining is as good as it gets. Once slipped on, it feels like it was never used and, remarkably, you can read every letter of the "Genuine Horsehide" stampings on the inner palm. Furthermore, both the D&M button and the Lucky Dog patch are in outstanding condition. This is a tough and desirable glove in any condition and only light signature stampings keep it from approaching a five figure price tag.....$1,700 or Trades Considered

This is an early 1900's buckle web buckle back crescent glove. It measures 8.5" tall and 8" wide. This example is in great condition. The lining feels nice on the hand with no rips or tears up inside. The buckle web has been repaired with what looks to be leather glue or adhesive. The glove is sturdy and solid with a nicely pronounced crescent pad. It has a very small hole right at the rolled leather piping where the lining connects to the piping but has no bearing on the feel of the glove. No manufacturer stampings are present.....$1,350

Stall & Dean

Ty Cobb $3.50 Glove

No. 0870. Green Calfskin	$3.50
No. 0871. Gray Calfskin	3.50
No. 0873. Brown Calfskin	3.50
No. 0873. Drab Buckskin	3.50
No. 0874. Black Calfskin	3.50

Gloves on this page carried in stock at Brockton Factory

Ty Cobb Glove

Ty Cobb $2.00 Glove

These gloves are made on our celebrated Ty Cobb pattern which incorporate his original ideas, leather lined and welted, ready for use and require no breaking in.

No. 0877. Gray Calfskin, $2.00

Ty Cobb $1.00 Glove

These gloves are made on our celebrated Ty Cobb pattern, leather lined and welted. No. 0879, Brown Tan Leather, $1.00

These gloves are made of specially selected leathers, felt and other materials. Extraordinary care is taken in selecting the very best leather. They are made by the most skilled operators in our employ. These gloves are thoroughly inspected at every stage of their making. Made in five colors on our celebrated Ty Cobb pattern which incorporates his original ideas. Leather lined and welted, and so constructed that they are ready for use and require no breaking in.

Wheat & Butchertrain.

Nov 14 1914

Dear Mr. M. J. Co.,

Chicago, Ill.

Gentlemen:-

I have received the sample glove which you sent me with the sheet for you and returned of course as I am quite satisfied that it is the most practical glove that I have seen.

The soft grade leather used in this glove and also the lining is a material admirably adapted to the purpose and ready to use. I am pleased and trust that you will be satisfied with the result.

I have shown this glove to several well known players and they all wanted it to use so they would see the good points readily. I think that doubtless a glove of this style will find a ready market.

Very Truly

Ty Cobb

T.C.

This Ty Cobb Stall & Dean full web may well be the oldest known Ty Cobb endorsed glove in the hobby. The Cobb endorsement started showing up in Stall & Dean catalogs in 1912. This is model 814 and doesn't appear in any catalogs we have that are known in the hobby. Most Stall & Dean model numbers are four digits and often begin with a zero. This one does not. Although not in perfect condition, the stampings as well as the endorsement are second to none and it does have a black Stall & Dean tag. You can read every letter in the palm, which is rare for Stall & Dean gloves known for their light stampings. It has been many years since any Ty Cobb glove has come to market and may be the last for a while as Cobb gloves don't often leave advanced collections.....Open to Offers

1940's Ripon 42 Ambidextrous & Corresponding Catalog

Well maintained and conditioned ambidextrous glove from the 1940's. The leather is supple and the stampings retain some of the original silver. Faded ink on the base of the front and back strap. Lacing through fingers has been replaced. It comes with the catalog that pictures the model.....$750

INFIELDERS' GLOVES.

No. 00 "Reach Special" Infielders' Glove, made of the best selected Buckskin, thoroughly water-proof, always pliable, and will not become hard.
Price, each, $3.00.

No. 0 Reach's Infield Glove, made of finest quality Maranham Buckskin.
One Glove only, Price, $3.00.

No. 2 Reach's Infield Glove, made of fine quality Gold Tan.
One Glove only, Price, $1.50.

No. 4 Reach's Boys' Infield Glove, similar to the No. 2, but made in Boys' size only.
One Glove only, Price, $1.00.

This c. 1890's A.J. Reach webless crescent has it all. It features tight seams and stitching throughout. The asbestos lining feels great up inside with no exceptions to note other than a minor lining separation at the heel. It measures 9.25" tall by 8" wide. The is an extremely rare and desirable Reach glove with the seldom seen horizontal tag.....$5,000

165 This mitt combines great strength with a handsome appearance. It is made throughout of a high grade drab calfskin and is trimmed with Russia calf. Besides the two great features, the Victor patent lace and the Victor patent thumb attachment, it is made with a heel ridge. This mitt cannot be beaten at.....6.00

No. 9 Cleveland Mitt. This is a very popular mitt. The front is horsehide and the back a yellow calf, neatly set off with red calf trimmings. It has the leading Victor features, and is a winner at 5.00

4.75

3.75

No. 145

No. 9

11A This mitt presents great strength for a low priced mitt. It has a double stitched palm in addition to the heel pad, and the other Victor features. The front is horsehide, and the back a brown Vucatan.....3.00

No. 11 Is made in general construction like No. 11A. The stock, however, is a handsome gold tan goat. This is a good mitt at.....$2.75

1.75

1.75

No. 11X Is made like Nos. 11 and 11A but with a horsehide front and a brown back, full to size, and great value at.....3.00

No. 11A, 11 AND 11X

c. 1900 Victor Crescent Catchers Mitt

A turn of the century Victor crescent pad catchers mitt. White leather front and two tone back in flawless condition. The rolled leather binding on the perimeter and wrist opening is pristine. The mitt features the trademark Victor laced heel and intricate buckle web patented in 1894 and 1895 respectively. The only markings on the face are the very faint logo which looks to be V__R and the remnant of a stamped oval that contained patent info but has faded away. The mitt is large, very sturdy, well made and measures 10 1/2" in diameter. The interior is flawless and feels great on the hand. The mitt is all original and display very little wear and tear. It is one of the finest examples out there.....$1,100

No. PG5

c. 1935 D&M PG5 Playground Model Three Finger

This is a 1935 D&M PG5 Playground Model. It's in fantastic condition. The exterior leather is smooth and supple. The inside lining feels great. It features a near perfect D&M cloth patch. The stampings are quite readable except for the model number. This model doesn't have an endorsement like the catalog picture. The right side heel says Approved by the Rules Committee.....Open to Offers